

October 2013 Email to Professor Lawrence Krauss refuting his "pretending to be energy" suggestion

Subject: Casimir Effect Experiment refutes your "cockamamie thing that's pretending to be energy of empty space" suggestion

Dear Esteemed Professor Krauss,

You say in your Edge.org article: "Then we would know that the actual energy of empty space is really zero but this is some cockamamie thing that's pretending to be energy of empty space" (Emphasis mine).

Unfortunately, the "Casimir Effect" experiment refutes your "pretending to be energy" suggestion and at my website I have posted this refutation. If you have a rebuttal and want me to post it please do send.

Thanks and regards,

Ashish Sirohi
Phsyicsnext.org